BEIHANG UNIVERSITY

Invitation Letter

Dear Colleagues:

In recent years, Beihang University has committed to the UPS internationalization layout, with a special focus on student-to-student mobility. To further deepen our collaboration with world-renowned universities and establish a premier international platform for technological innovation and cultural exchanges, we are soon to host the inaugural Beihang Global Science and Innovation Competition. Themed “Building Dreams in Aviation, Leading the Future with Intelligence”, this event focuses on the design of future aircraft and represents a top-tier event in technological innovation for students worldwide. Through this competition, we aim to enhance our cooperation in talent cultivation with leading global universities, jointly nurturing top-quality, innovative talent in the aerospace field.

We hereby extend our sincere invitation and expect students from your esteemed university to participate in this program. We look forward to collaborating on this blueprint for scientific innovation and wish you outstanding success in the competition!
